

60 Office-Safe Christmas "Who's Most Likely To" Questions for Work

Need a holiday party game that gets coworkers laughing without making HR nervous? These 60 questions poke fun at things every office shares — reply-all disasters, potluck mysteries and the person who books their vacation the second it's allowed — and nothing personal or edgy.

They work as a 10-minute icebreaker at the start of a team meeting, as a full activity at the office party, or on a video call where everyone votes from their own screen.

How to play

1. Paper version: one person reads a question out loud. On the count of three, everyone points at the person they think fits best. Whoever gets the most fingers pointed at them "wins" that round (and has to explain themselves).
2. Phone version: open Sleigh Night on a TV or laptop. Guests scan the QR code and vote secretly on their phones. The TV reveals the results with a drumroll, and anyone who voted with the majority scores points.
3. At the end everyone gets a funny award based on how the room voted — "Most likely to burn the cookies" makes a great screenshot.

60 Christmas "Who's Most Likely To" questions

1. Who's most likely to reply-all to the whole company by accident?

2. Who's most likely to show up to the holiday party in a full Santa suit?

3. Who's most likely to take home the most leftovers from the potluck?

4. Who's most likely to spend the whole holiday party talking about work?

5. Who's most likely to still be answering emails on Christmas Day?

6. Who's most likely to forget who they got for Secret Santa?

7. Who's most likely to turn their desk into a winter wonderland?

8. Who's most likely to bring store-bought cookies and say they baked them?

9. Who's most likely to book their vacation days the second they're allowed?

10. Who's most likely to doze off in a meeting after the holiday lunch?

11. Who's most likely to play Christmas music at their desk all December?

12. Who's most likely to stay on mute for the entire holiday video call?

13. Who's most likely to turn the supply closet into a gift-wrapping station?

14. Who's most likely to win the ugly sweater contest?

15. Who's most likely to accidentally schedule a meeting on Christmas Eve?

16. Who's most likely to eat the last donut and leave the empty box?

17. Who's most likely to plan the office party down to the last napkin?

18. Who's most likely to give everyone the exact same gift card?

19. Who's most likely to leave the decorations up until March?

20. Who's most likely to get stuck in the elevator with the CEO?

21. Who's most likely to sneak out of the party early without saying bye?

22. Who's most likely to make a spreadsheet to plan their holiday shopping?

23. Who's most likely to be the first one dancing when the music starts?

24. Who's most likely to bring their dog to the office holiday party?
-
25. Who's most likely to turn on their out-of-office reply in November?
-
26. Who's most likely to end up with the white elephant gift everyone wanted?
-
27. Who's most likely to send a "Happy Holidays" email with 40 GIFs?
-
28. Who's most likely to bring a slow cooker to every single potluck?
-
29. Who's most likely to hear all the office gossip before anyone else?
-
30. Who's most likely to keep a secret stash of holiday candy in their drawer?
-
31. Who's most likely to forget to mute and sing along to holiday music on a call?
-
32. Who's most likely to bring a homemade dish nobody can identify?
-
33. Who's most likely to wear a light-up sweater to the all-hands meeting?
-
34. Who's most likely to re-gift a mug from last year's Secret Santa?
-
35. Who's most likely to take a sneaky nap in a conference room?
-
36. Who's most likely to volunteer to play Santa at the office party?
-
37. Who's most likely to still have last year's gift card in their wallet?
-
38. Who's most likely to decorate the break room without asking anyone?
-
39. Who's most likely to get way too competitive at office trivia?
-
40. Who's most likely to bake cookies for the entire floor?
-
41. Who's most likely to sneak out to do holiday shopping at lunch?
-
42. Who's most likely to put a Santa hat on the office plant?
-
43. Who's most likely to give a holiday speech nobody asked for?
-
44. Who's most likely to be the last one to leave the office party?
-
45. Who's most likely to send a calendar invite for the cookie swap?
-

46. Who's most likely to accidentally eat someone else's lunch from the fridge?
-
47. Who's most likely to remember everyone's kids' names for holiday cards?
-
48. Who's most likely to forget their badge on the last day before break?
-
49. Who's most likely to spend the whole meeting looking at flights home?
-
50. Who's most likely to bring their own hot sauce to the potluck?
-
51. Who's most likely to dress up their pet for the team video call?
-
52. Who's most likely to wear pajama pants just below the camera?
-
53. Who's most likely to organize a gingerbread house competition?
-
54. Who's most likely to say "Let's circle back after the holidays"?
-
55. Who's most likely to come back from break with a brand-new hobby?
-
56. Who's most likely to tell the same story at every holiday party?
-
57. Who's most likely to win "Most Festive" without even trying?
-
58. Who's most likely to hide in a meeting to skip the party games?
-
59. Who's most likely to bring a gift way over the price limit?
-
60. Who's most likely to already have their New Year's goals in a spreadsheet?
-

Tips for a great round

- Keep it positive: pick questions people would be happy to "win."
- With remote teams, share the TV screen on the video call and let people join on their phones.
- Big department party? The phone version keeps 30–40 people voting at once without anyone shouting.
- Hand out a small prize for the winner of "Most Festive" at the end.

More Christmas party ideas